Entellect Achieves Major Milestone at Department of Education, Tasmania

- Department of Education (DoE), Tasmania has certified initial acceptance of the first release of the eMinerva 5.1 enterprise solution
- Project will now proceed through further development as well as Trial Readiness Testing in the near future followed by User Trials
- Milestone represents a significant achievement

Education software innovator, Entellect Solutions Limited (ESN), has reached a major contract milestone with the delivery of the first production release of its enterprise grade eMinerva student management and administration software for the Department of Education, Tasmania.

This contract milestone represents a significant payment milestone.

The delivery and acceptance of the first production release of the enterprise product is seen as a significant landmark for the company, as it refocuses its business following a strategic restructure earlier this year.

Entellect Solutions new Chief Executive, Joe Younane, said: "The Department of Education, Tasmania has assessed and certified acceptance of the first production release of Entellect's eMinerva Enterprise Version 5.1 in accordance with the project and contract requirements. We will now progress to the next phases of the project which include further development as well as trial-readiness testing in the near future followed by user trials."

"Entellect's enterprise model allows the Tasmanian Department of Education to customise its student administration requirements, while retaining the ongoing support of the Entellect development and customer service teams."

"Our eMinerva application is an exciting new enterprise product which will enhance student management and administration for the Department of Education, allowing them to better service their student bodies and manage reporting," he said.
